

Media Release 15/10/2018

IVHL to Be a Pavilion Partner at Basel Peace Forum 2019

IVHL is delighted to announce they will be a pavilion partner at the Basel Peace Forum on the 13th-14th January 2019. The Basel Peace Forum, in its third edition, is pursuing peace by bringing together experts and decision-makers from politics, business, civil society and academia to develop new ideas and thereby make a difference. The Basel Peace Forum's vision is "rethinking peace, innovating the future". The organiser of the Basel Peace Forum is Swisspeace, a practice-oriented peace research institute which analyses violent conflicts and develops strategies for their peaceful transformation.

Robert Sadleir, the founder of IVHL, "we are delighted to be partnering with the Basel Peace Forum as we develop our approaches to understanding how the process of valuing a human life can be applied to the context of conflict and peace-building." Our pavilion will facilitate discussion in an innovative manner on the question of the value of human life and peace-building.

IVHL is a non-profit organisation seeking to understand how lives are measured and valued for public policy purposes. We aspire to facilitate discussion on approaches and methodologies to bring transparency and improve processes to valuing a human life. We seek to develop tools so that institutions and organisations may better value human lives and allocate resources, and so individuals can better articulate their self-worth and empathise with others.

For further information, please contact our Communications Officer, Ms Dea Jusufi at dea.jusufi@ivhl.org.